

WELCOME

As a parent of a child in grades PreK-12, you are looking for an international school where your child can thrive academically, develop socially, and be prepared to tackle any challenge that awaits him or her in future schooling and professional settings.

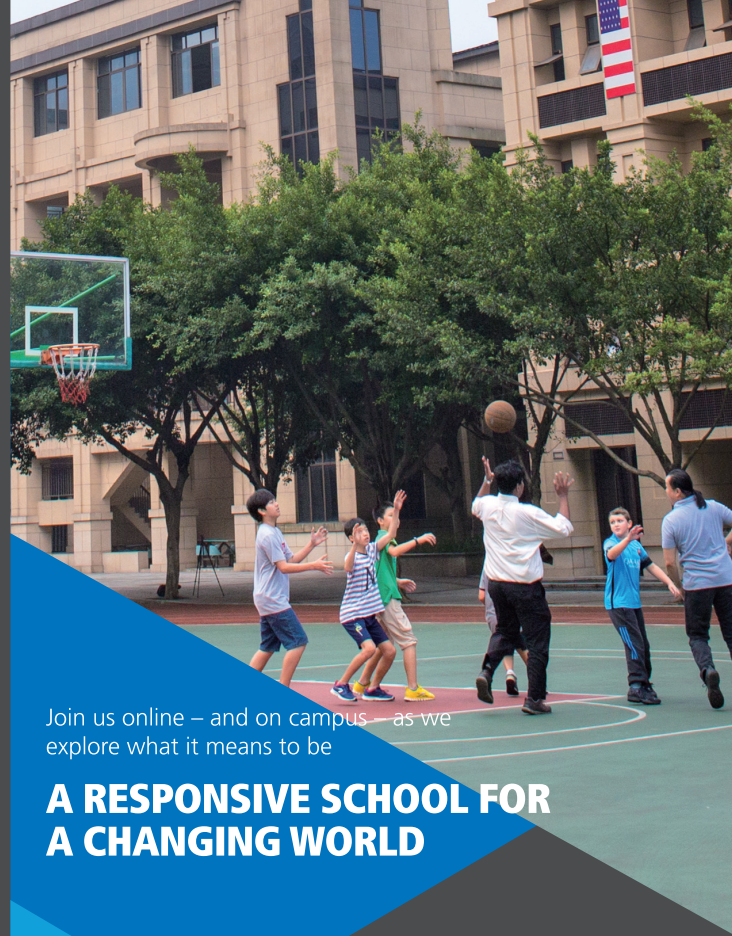

At KL International School of Chongqing Bashu (KLISCB), we offer you that, and so much more.

KLISCB's is Chongqing's only not-for-profit, PreK-12 school with an American curriculum and pedagogical approach. We have a singular goal: to prepare creative, collaborative, and curious students who will thrive as educated global citizens, self-sustaining learners, and ethical leaders.

This is no easy feat, as the future is rapidly changing and impossible to predict. Old ways of learning – teachers lecturing at the front of a classroom, students rote memorizing facts and formulas – are insufficient to meet the challenges of our time. Today's students must understand how to use information in rigorous and novel ways. It is not enough to recite a mathematical formula – it must be applied to new challenges in mechanical engineering. It is not enough to read about famous debates in history – students must be able to critically dissect and respond to others' arguments themselves. Problem solving, critical thinking, creativity, collaboration, and cultural literacy: these are not mere buzzwords, but essential parts of learning – and leading – in our global world.

At KLISCB, our students are not the reciters – they are the responders.
